Yes, we are actually on the new server now. It hasn't been fully optimized yet though.

Now I am curious, have you noticed any change in page loads and response times?

danial, the note for you guys stated, "Once the current gallery goes down (which it will, no matter what), all uploaded material will be lost and all links to its content will become obsolete". So, since photos are still in the gallery, I haven't been doing anything on the site. I figured once the photos were going then it would be time.

Is that yet to come or not going to actually happen?

The Gallery is just zippy now!

I've deleted my images. unfortunately, the copies attributed to other users are still in the Gallery.
